Famously hot. Surprisingly cool.

If you're looking to turn the heat up on your next event, let the Columbia Metropolitan Convention Center be your new hot spot.

Centrally located in South Carolina's historic state capital, our convention center is in the middle of an exciting urban scene that includes open-air cafés, deluxe accommodations, live music, exciting sports venues and concert tours. With our temperate seasons, Columbia offers your guests a perfect year-round business and social climate with a wide variety of world-class cultural and natural attractions. We're also only minutes away from a major airport and interstates, giving you access to anywhere you need to be.

Built in 2004, our downtown convention center is a modern and architecturally significant complex that's played host to some of the hottest special events in the Southeast. From magnificent receptions and cultural galas to corporate functions and international trade shows, our center is adaptable to the needs of most any meeting planner. The center is an impressive 142,500 square foot meeting/exhibit facility that boasts a 17,135 square foot ballroom, 15,145 square feet of meeting space and a 24,700 square foot exhibit hall.

With the capability of serving up to 2,500 guests, our state-of-the-art convention center can be divided into five meeting rooms or ten breakout rooms.

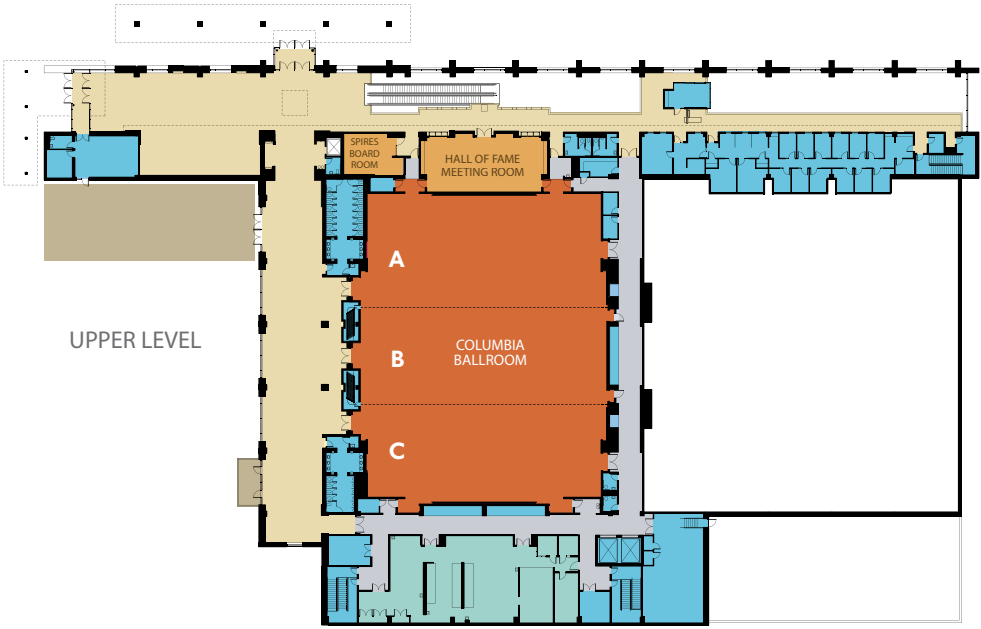

The Columbia Ballroom can be divided into three sections, making it a warm and inviting location for business lunch meetings as well as large-scale receptions. The center has also been designed to provide several pre- and post-event reception areas outside the ballroom, meeting rooms and exhibit hall. Our landscaped terrace provides the perfect site for cocktails, luncheons and conference breaks.

We also cater to your every need by serving up a wide array of delectable food and beverage options. From continental breakfasts and brunch buffets to appetizing hors d'oeuvres and multi-course gourmet dinners, our in-house catering staff has created unique and competitively priced menu options for any size event.

With full banquet facilities, a deluxe in-house kitchen and an active wine cellar, our seasoned catering professionals will give your special event a true taste of warm, southern hospitality.

From your initial inquiry, our convention center sales team will immediately begin working with you to help design flexible and personalized options for your next meeting or event.
